BUMBU

Bumbu is part of the history of Caribbean rum. It is based on the original recipes developed by traders and travellers during the 16th and 17th centuries, who had a habit of blending spices into their rum – a practice unique to the region at a time when spices were worth gold.

Bumbu is crafted in small batches on the island of Barbados, where the first rums were distilled nearly 400 years ago, in 1688. The distillery was founded in 1893 and our stills date back to 1840. Bumbu is an ode to the history of rum.

Bumbu is a rum blended with ingredients from 8 countries where sugar cane plants are carefully selected by our master distillers: Barbados, Brazil, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Salvador, Guyana and Honduras contribute to Bumbu's unique aromatic signature.

Bumbu's unique, authentic and historic bottle design is decorated with a tarnished metal cross. 35° proof rum is perfect for sipping straight or on the rocks, and is also a favourite of top mixologists and bartenders. A must-have for any well-stocked bar, Bumbu is a masterpiece on all levels and has already achieved cult status.
